

Environmental Compliance

Rogers & Callcott has created a department of qualified specialists to address our clients' environmental compliance needs. Our staff includes professionals from regulatory, consulting and quality management backgrounds who constantly track changes in Federal and State regulations. By integrating this regulatory expertise with our in-house supporting disciplines throughout the project lifecycle and beyond, we assure a seamless approach to project management and environmental compliance. We are ready to provide due-diligence, pre-audit reviews, reporting, permit applications and on-site environmental management on an array of services.
